

BLOGS CANON

2026-03-18

Dexter Hadley, MD/PhD

Hadley Lab CANONIC

Abstract

BLOGS are governed literary artifacts every post a timestamped disclosure, governance rendered as readable story.

hadleylab.org Governed Research. Every claim cited.

Contents

- POST_IS_DISCLOSURE every post is a timestamped disclosure declared via front matter (title, date, layout: post) and filed as `_posts/YYYY-MM-DD-slug.md`.
 - NARRATIVE_FROM_LEDGER each post maps to LEDGER evidence (commit history, discovery patterns, architectural decisions) rendered as readable story.
 - PROSE_IS_PROJECTION BLOGS project governance narrative into public prose; the post is the projection, the ledger is the source.
- ## Constraints

MUST: Every post declares front matter (title, date, layout: post)

MUST: Posts live in `_posts/` following Jekyll naming

MUST: BLOGS.json index is compiled never hand-edited

MUST: CANON.json is compiled never hand-edited

MUST: Post content maps to governed work (LEDGER commit history)

MUST NOT: Publish ungoverned narrative (fiction without evidence)

MUST NOT: Hand-edit compiled indices (BLOGS.json, CANON.json)

BLOGS / CANON / JEKYLL